To Whom it May Concern

Mr. Yogendra Bharadwaj (Roll No 2511AI38) who is currently pursuing M.Tech in Artificial Intelligence (AI) from the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Patna has been performing excellently in academic and has shown good potential to carry out work in cutting edge technology which may serve to be fruitful in near future and act as a good human resource for any organization and society. His exposure in the diverse technology stack in his undergraduate degree (Computer Engineering), previous work experience (as lead Research and Development) and current postgraduate degree (with specialization in Artificial Intelligence) has been a catalyst in carrying out interdisciplinary work in efficient manner.

Mr. Yogendra is known personally from that event and met there at the international conference organized by IIT Bombay. He represented his organization at this conference, where through his skills, experience, and leadership qualities, he delivered an outstanding performance that impressed all the national and international guests and left a strong impact on all the delegates.

He has also been involved in extracurricular activities at IIT Patna, serving as a student coordinator for the Training and Placement Cell, and actively participating in research activities and programs, coding contests, hackathons, conferences and many more such event.

We have been involved in various projects at the Indian Institute of Technology Patna, including research and development programs and projects. His sincerity and hardworking nature, along with the skill set he possesses, make him a perfect match for any organization.

Mr. Yogendra approaches every task with professionalism and responsibility, and he takes it forward with full dedication until completion. He has published several research papers and has also filed patents. Along with this, he has served as a reviewer and editor for various international conferences and journals of repute. This clearly reflects his deep knowledge interest and expertise in his field.

As a mentor, I know him by head and heart that Yogendra has always been a reliable go-to person for his colleagues. His consistently cheerful attitude and positive energy make him stand out, and he proves to be an exceptional human resource for any team with high degree of integrity.

I pleased to recommend Mr. Yogendra to anyone, and Please feel free to contact me for any clarification or information.

I wish him all success in his future endeavors.
